ANDREWS AND OTHERS.

The republican candidate for delegate to congress, Governor Curry and a number of others reached Carrizozo at three o'clock Sunday morning on their swing around the circle. The crowd secured teams and, accompanied by a number of local republicans, drove to Lincoln that day. Monday morning at ten o'clock they were greeted by a large crowd at the courthouse, and soon thereafter the bunch proceeded to Capitan where a meeting had been arranged. Taking the train at Capitan, all except Gov. Curry, they arrived in Carrizozo about seven o'clock.

The meeting here Monday night drew a large crowd to Wetmore Hall, which had been appropriately decorated by the ladies. The meeting was called to order by E. D. Fred, who introduced Mr. Andrews, as the guest of the evening. The candidate, who was quite hoarse, spoke for fully five minutes. He evidently had been informed that most of his auditors would be democrats, as he was very careful not to say anything about politics.

Ralph C. Ely of Deming, the only spell-binder in the bunch, made a really pleasant talk; but he also tabooed politics. Statehood was his theme, and he urged his hearers to vote for Andrews in order to secure statehood. He said the republican party had promised statehood, but confessed that he did not believe the promise would be kept unless Andrews was elected. (What stronger terms have the democrats used in their arraignment of the republican party?) He also acknowledged that the democratic charge that the republicans had been long on promises for statehood, and short on performances, but insisted on one more trial; that statehood was almost within our grasp, and if the people would give the republicans another trial, by electing Andrews, statehood was as good as won.

Jose D. Sena was the next speaker, and he addressed his remarks to the Spanish-speaking people present. Mr. Sena is the mayor of Santa Fe, and invited his audience to visit the ancient capital. Mr. Sena is also clerk of the supreme court, which, however, he did not mention, and he will not be docked for the month spent campaigning for Andrews.

A young man by the name of Simms was next introduced, who told the threadbare story of the church social and the single, but much-used, oyster, and closed by saying that statehood was the only oyster in this campaign.

He forgot to say that the republicans had about extracted all the substance from the statehood oyster, and that the soup they were now dishing up was very thin, and no longer tickled the palates of the voters; but really that was not necessary, as that was the opinion of most of those present.

A DAY'S SPORT AT NOGAL.

As had been formerly announced, A crowd gathered at Nogal to witness a ball game, and to take part in other features of entertainment scheduled for the occasion.

Carrizozo sent a part of her base ball nine up, and there met a team largely composed of Nogal and Capitan players. The game started off with Nogal in the lead, but the Carrizozo boys picked up about the fifth inning, and began to mix things. In the seventh inning, just as the sun was hiding his head behind Church Peak, and the game stood 12 to 18 in favor of Nogal, a badger fight was announced, and the crowd, players and all, stampeded for the town. A sham badger fight was pulled off, but a real, sure enough live badger was produced, and two different bull dogs attempted to despatch him. It was a royal fight, in fact, two of them, but when the fight was over, the combatants all bloody, Mr. badger was still there, defiant as ever.

At night, a ball entertained a large number of young people, as well as a few older ones, and a most delightful evening was spent Carrizozo, Capitan, Angus, Lincoln and white Oaks helped swell the local crowd, and a number of the candidates of the democratic party graced the occasion with their pleasantest smiles.

The work on the new depot building has begun in earnest. The foundation trench is being dug, the material is on the ground and the carpenters are at work putting the material in shape. The building will be two-story, and will adjoin the old depot.

TORNADO AT CLAYTON.

Clayton, N. M., Oct. 20.—Four home steads residing near Clayton were killed Sunday night as the result of a tornado and cloudburst. Twenty others were more or less injured, three of whom, it is believed, will die.

The dead include W. H. Haight and J. S. Fox, wife and daughter.

Among the injured are Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bowen and their five children, Thos. Downs and John Byrne. The new county court house, which cost $40,000, was wrecked; also a score of other houses. Telephone and telegraph wires were blown away and miles of poles leveled. The damage in the business section of the town was not heavy. The C. & S. railroad sustained heavy loss. Clayton was in utter darkness after the tornado, until day light, and there were no lights that night. The water system was also put out of commission by the storm and the town is without water.

LINCOLN COUNTY APPLES.

The celebrated Coe orchards on the Ruidoso, have disposed of six cars of apples to Loretz & Kepley, of El Paso. The apples were loaded at Capitan and shipped to El Paso. The El Paso trade has learned to appreciate our mountain apples, and a ready sale is assured for all shipped to Texas and Arizona points. The apples grown in this county are known over the southwest.

CARD CLUB MEETS.

The regular Tuesday night card club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Noessel, and contested for the prizes offered on that occasion. Mrs. J. F. Kimbell won first prize and M. Coffey got the other that wasn't. Mr. Northlane made a strenuous effort to capture one of the other, but failing, succeeded, when refreshments were served, by storing the major portion of good things spread before the guests.
